What's New In?

The leading e-word processing package for small and medium-sized companies Celframe Office is the most complete package of e-word processing software available. Compatible with MS Word and Excel, it will get you started quickly and easily. Celframe Office makes working with PDF files as easy as dragging and dropping. Drag a file directly into your open application to begin the conversion process, save as a PDF directly or choose from over 100 additional conversion options. Generating PDFs is easy with the built-in PDF export. With Celframe Office, you will always be able to export to PDF for easy emailing and sharing. Celframe Office also includes a spreadsheet application that fully supports all the capabilities and editing features of MS Excel. This solution allows you to graphically manipulate and analyze your data faster and more accurately than you can with paper and pencil. Celframe Office comes with several tools built-in that will make working with templates and layout objects even easier, including text editing, two page formats and two page frames. These tools are easily accessible and can be applied from either the menu or the toolbar. Celframe Office is especially useful for analyzing your business data by adding to it various modules of analysis. With Celframe Office, the modules are combined into an application without the need for intermixture. Celframe Office offers you a powerful contact management solution that can be used to quickly and efficiently keep track of all your contacts, in either paper or electronic form. With Celframe Office, you will always be able to access your application from any computer, via the Web or, in a pinch, at a kiosk. Your business data will be easier to store in a common format that is also flexible and easy to share, let you edit and format text documents just like you would with a word processing program and save in many popular Microsoft formats including Word, Excel and Powerpoint. Celframe Office also includes a presentation program that can be used to create print quality powerpoint presentations that can be simply delivered via email or published to your site. You will be able to create your presentation without having to learn new software, so you can get up and running quickly. If you already use a word processing program but don't yet have a good e-mail system, Celframe Office can deliver the answers you need. You will be able to export your mail messages into word documents so you can make, format and edit your documents in an intuitive way.
