Promotion Vijayawada: An elderly lady had to be personally rescued by forest guards when she, along with her grandson, fell into a gorge in Maharashtra's Dhule district. The elderly lady, 55-year-old Harnam Ratna Dev, a resident of Gadakwadi village, with her grandson who is 9-year-old, took a round trip hike in the vicinity of the gorge to get water. On getting closer to the gorge, she noticed that the water level of the stream had risen to such a height that they were unable to cross it, and asked her grandson to take her across. They started crossing the stream and after a few metres, without noticing it, they fell off the embankment. As soon as they fell, the river had taken them away. In the process, the young boy had to be rescued, since the elderly lady could not swim. The forest guards went into the gorge, but being exhausted had difficulty reaching the two. They eventually reached the spot and after two hours of wait, the forest guards were able to rescue the girl and the boy. The girl and the boy are now safe and have been taken to a hospital for checkup. The next day, a while after, Harnam Ratna Devi took another hike,

Other Facebook users said the boy was pulled away by a SWAT team who entered the school and eventually left with the boy. "It all started at 7 o'clock in the morning with a firetruck and ambulance on scene. Came to find out it was 5-year-old boy at the school taking his bus. Then a bunch of cars showed up. Looked like an entire police department." Facebook user Melissa Smith said. Another Facebook user said the boy's story was even more complex. "It's a shame that a young boy has to go through that in elementary school. I believe in a perfect world, we should be able to make our school a safe haven for children." Facebook user Kristen Thayer said. That may never be. Police said the boy's family is not cooperating. Sgt. George Eliason said the family is from a neighboring jurisdiction and police are working to connect with the boy's family. "It's not something we really want to put the family through, but we had no choice. We had to get him out safely. We don't want to stress the family with something like this, but at the same time they've got a 5-year-old
