View the Media Preview About This ContentCursed is a game about a giant who's cursed to stay as a small ever-shrinking creature. He'll be huge, however, if he gets some blood from a kid. No one can stand to watch Cursed, especially a woman. It was inspired by H4S.

What's new in Run, Kitty! Original Soundtrack:

- A wannabe redemption story about a woman who runs away from home in the first one, then returns as a schoolgirl who had unfinished business. Japanese animation III.LADY: Waratakizuki (Lady) - An anime about an unsuspecting bespectacled mushroom hunter falls for the villain's adopted daughter. She turns to ju-on style slaughter after her father is killed by the villian. It's a bit masochistic, but it's pretty good. It's got girls, guns, demons and zombies, but if you can get over their depressing ending, you might find it a lovely slice of entertainment. IV.XX: Johnny & Jenny XX - A memorable Japanese comedy with a very crude storyline about a teenage prostitute and a bored college student. OPUS CLAY OPUS CLIXX: Xenogen (Vampire Hunter X: Girl of the New Day) - An animated vampire deathfest making the jump to the big screen. It's not great, but it gives you something to talk about with your friends the next time you drop by the average bar for a couple of drinks. IV.ALICE: Pimp'd - I remember this and never seen it (having been born in South Africa) having played it a couple of years back on the UK's old torrent site Demonoid (which is totally gone now. RIP that site), but it's my favourite film on this list. Set during the anti-apartheid struggle, it stars Noni Thurston, Coenen Coetzee and Michael Parker and is based on the book written by Nico Louw. It chronicles the rise of a young South African woman (Als-lice Colby) into adulthood. IV.COPPERTOOTH: Deaf Rights Theater (2002) - A documentary about deaf movie reviewers, and more deaf movie critics, that inevitably has to be one of the funniest things on this list. An absolute must for the special someone on your list of 'things I like to watch'. Two movies on the list (Xenogenesis and Spice Girls 3) should be available through Netflix here in South Africa (and soon Netflix worldwide), and if you have time (which you will) check out this documentary: Another great documentary from our friends abroad was 8 Minutes to Glory. A take on Japanese film around the 1970

With the revolution of mechanization, men and machines have exchanged power for gain. In return for their efforts, machines are given the ability to control men's labor, a fate that has shaken the world to its core. A world once known for its unity has been torn apart by the conflict between machines and men, and so the ensuing cold war, or "Sovietization," has brought nothing but destruction to the world.A world of superpowers, each intent on pulling itself free from the poverty of the past, is the true battlefield of the 21st Century. Human civilization is on the edge of a precipice, and no one knows which way it will tumble. The year is 2013. The world is at war with itself, as mankind struggles between the industrialized powers of the West and the illegal territories of the East. Enlisted, along with your partner, you have been sent to the Free State of Wrea, which lies in the remote Pacific region of the world. The world now seems to be on the brink of total destruction. and all hope seems lost, until one day you discover a plane coming in from the heavens. The plane lands and greets you with a mysterious message. The message is an invitation... to join the Legendary Guardian Network... A major combat force that has grown over the course of time. The legendary Guardian Network is the protector of the world, a force that was created by the most powerful nations on Earth. If you decide to join them, then you must prove your worth by participating in different events, but are they merely a mirage of a world in chaos, or is there hope in their power? And what are you truly fighting for? Inherently designed with the 3rd person viewpoint of the PC games fans in mind, You are one of the gunslingers who guard the skies of Wrea, the area where war currently stands. You are only given a few instructions before you begin your journey, so get ready to go on a quite epic adventure. • Limited functionality • No Install required • See the Game Guide for more info Key Features: - Choosing one's path in life- 3rd person view and limited functionality-Challenging missions- Numerous battle and various missions- A variety of weapons including a variety of firearms and ranged weapons- Events like hunting wild animals, killing boars and commanding one's followers
