Submerged: Hidden Depths is the first 'concert simulation' game, where you take on the role of one of the world's best string quartets, and set out on a global tour. With a brand new 3D animated musical film as your backdrop, you'll find yourself surrounded by beautiful scenery and amazing real-time music, all with the added sensation of being immersed in the music as it occurs. Music has always been a big part of my work. I have been a member of some of the world's most prestigious music institutions, such as the London Symphony Orchestra, The Australian Chamber Orchestra, the National Youth Orchestra and the Royal Melbourne Symphony Orchestra. As a result, I have spent nearly two decades living and working in Australia. I've used the guitar, the violin and the cello in everything I've recorded. My goal has always been to make musical experiences that engage people through feeling. That's why I'm so passionate about this video game. In Submerged, I'm proud to be working with a fantastic team, and we're all very excited to bring this game to a global audience. The music is going to have you covered. As you play through the game, you'll be immersed in the music as you look down from your pedal board to see the action unfold. You'll be able to listen to the entire string quartet, thanks to the industry-leading sound features in this game, and with the added 'effect' of the animated film background. The Score Submerged is the first game in which I have used a classical composer for the soundtrack. I am very proud to be working with Jeff van Dyck, and am hoping he'll view this as an exciting challenge, and will have some fun with it. After having successfully completed the football soundtrack for FIFA 17, I'm very excited to be working with the world's greatest conductor to deliver this game, with a great team behind it.
