Ivona Software Text To Speech & Speech Editor Â .WASHINGTON (AP) — The No. 2 at the U.S. Agency for Global Change, the State Department’s top official in charge of countering climate change, resigned following allegations that he misused State Department funds. Advertisement Advertisement Sylvan Ly, who was the deputy director for the Center for Climate Change and Environment at the State Department, had been on paid leave since last July and had left the agency on Monday, according to the agency. The State Department said in a statement that Ly’s official title is now “deputy executive secretary.” Agency officials said Ly was placed on leave after a senior U.S. diplomat in Kyrgyzstan was caught on camera making anti-Islamic statements, including that Islam was “totally incompatible with the U.S.

Constitution.” The diplomat has since resigned. The State Department said Ly’s only involvement was to suggest a resolution to the case. An agency official said that Ly was not aware of the diplomat’s comments and there was no evidence he had influenced the discussion. The Obama administration has been cracking down on public officials who violate the standards for use of government resources. In the past year, the State Department has reprimanded 21 officials, 6d1f23a050
